Pleasantview Fire Protection District Improves its Public Protection Classification (PPC) from Class 3 to Class 2

I was informed this week by Fire Chief Kevin Doyle, of Pleasantview Fire Protection District, that the District's fire rating has been updated and its Public Protection Classification has been upgraded from Class 3 to Class 2. Chief Doyle stated that the District went through a week-long evaluation in October 2012, reviewing every aspect of their operation from their ability to handle and receive emergency calls, available water supply and a top-to-bottom review of their operations, including the ability to respond and mitigate all types of emergency incidents. The lower PPC rating may potentially lower insurance premiums for business owners.

A Class 2 rating places the Pleasantview Fire Protection District in a very unique category. The District is now ranked in the top 1.25% of all Fire Districts nationwide. Pleasantview is now among the top 550 Departments out of 47,250 Fire Departments across the country. This is a tremendous accomplishment and the Fire District is to be congratulated.
